Free Health Checkup Program

Organized by Extension Cell and IQAC of Dr. Nobin Bordoloi College

Date: 7th April 2023

Venue: Gobindapur Gaon (adopted village)

Occasion: World Health Day

In celebration of World Health Day, the Extension Cell and Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) of Dr. Nobin Bordoloi College organized a free health checkup program in their adopted village. The event took place on 7th April 2023, from 11:30 AM to 3:30 PM, aiming to provide essential healthcare services to the sick and impoverished members of the community.

The program was inaugurated by Mr. Utpal Bordoloi, the Principal of Dr. Nobin Bordoloi College, following the felicitation of the medical team. The medical team comprised 11 dedicated members, including:

- Medical Officer: Dr. Rekha Hazarika
- Project Officer: Kuljit Das
- Lab Technician
- Pharmacist
- Two ANM Nurses
- Ophthalmologist

The program achieved significant community engagement, with a total of 47 sick and poor individuals attending the checkup. The services provided included general health examinations, eye checkups, and basic laboratory tests.

In addition to the consultations, medicines were dispensed at no cost, ensuring that the attendees received necessary treatments without any financial burden. This initiative not only provided immediate medical aid but also emphasized the importance of health awareness and regular checkups among the villagers.

The event was highly appreciated by the community, reflecting the commitment of Dr. Nobin Bordoloi College to social responsibility and community service. The successful execution of this program highlighted the collaborative efforts of the college's Extension Cell and IQAC in improving healthcare access for underprivileged populations.

The free health checkup program was a significant step towards promoting health and well-being in the adopted village, aligning with the global mission of World Health Day to ensure health for all.

Impact and Future Plans:

The “Green Earth” yearly plantation program successfully fostered a sense of environmental leadership among the participants. It aimed to:

- Increase awareness about environmental issues.
- Encourage sustainable practice in daily life.
- Strengthen community bonds through collective action

Moving forward, the organizers plan to monitor the growth of the planted sapling and organize regular follow up activities to ensure the continued success of the initiative. The program will serve as event, encouraging other communities to adopt similar sustainable practices.

Conclusion:The “Green Earth” yearly plantation program on June 5, 2023, was a significant step towards environment conservation and community engagement. The collaboration effort of the Eco Club, the Dept of Economics, IQAC, Dr Nobin Bordoloi College, and the visionary input of Sri Montu Rajak, along with the active participation of villagers, student, and faculty members, made this event a resounding success.
